In the Demetrescu troupe, the Pavilion has an excellent attraction. This act is a combination of three different acts, viz., bars, rings and hand-balancing, with the bars as the predominating feature. The work on these consists of a series of difficult aerial tricks. The audience sees backward, forward, twisting and double somersaults, and a series of somersaults from bar to bar, done while the performer is blindfolded. The act is one of the best of its kind ever seen at the Pavilion. Miss Irene Ferguson, the Scottish comedienne, is combining business with pleasure during her engagement at the Pavilion by visiting C. A. Heath and family, to whom she is related.

What's New?

Pretty nearly everything in our store is new. We did not sell lots of goods at cost or less throughout the month of January wholly to get the money. We wanted new goods in their place, and that is just what we have got to-day. We are each season keeping a better store, having to sell nearer the kinds that are wanted. We are after your spring business, and expect that the latest kinds, priced as we price them, will make us busy from now on.

NEW THINGS

If you are only to buy Prints, you want new patterns. These are here, and no store in New England sells them for less. We mean, best quality. Lights and darks, beautiful foulard patterns, for 6c per yard.

New Gingham—new in our stock and Gingham rights fresh from the mills. Lots of good styles in plain colors, plaids and stripes.

Latest patterns in Bates' Gingham that are copies of the real imported kinds, at 12 1/2c.

We have the C. F. Hovey, which is an imported Scotch Gingham that they buy for their best trade. These are 25c per yard and some of our best sellers.

You may not look for any particular make of Percale when you pay 12 1/2c. Let us remind you that there is a vast difference. Ours is the Manchester grade.

We are selling a yard-wide Percale in dark and light grounds at 10c that is as good as some makes of 12 1/2c Percale. Just count the threads to the inch in these Percales—that tells the story.

Laces, Embroideries and All-overs to go with above Wash Goods.

The above kinds are not only new, but are, we believe, the kinds that smartly dressed ladies will want to wear.

NEW THINGS

Many of these kinds are new in design and new cloths for us to keep. We believe them to be just about the latest kinds and our selection of patterns we have reason to believe will suit you.

Our line of Colored Figured Flaxons is very pretty. Just the kinds for spring and a part to consider is that they wash perfectly. The plain figured ones are 18c. Those that have figures printed or broken checks are 25c. These will be made up for party and street dresses.

We have just received a new kind of a Madras for ladies' waists, whole dresses and men's shirts. They are materials used in $1.50 and $2.00 Men's Shirts. This lot 15c per yard.

Voiles—These are to be good and come in different prices.

Linen, particularly in white, will be very popular a little later. Our assortment is everything that we think you are liable to call for.

We are getting to that point of our business now where we are trying to keep everything that is wanted in our line.

The most beautiful cloth in our stock at 50c is a Silk Striped Voile. This in Boston and other large cities sells for 65c. It's a special with us—comes in linen colors and new blue.

We have a new lot of All Wool 30-inch Panama for 50c per yard—all colors.

New lot of yard-wide Brainerd and Armstrong Messaline Silk in all of the staple and fancy shades, at $1.35 per yard. We also have a little lighter weight in same width at $1.00 per yard. Take our advice—buy the very best, only a bit more, and it costs no more for the making and trimming.

We have a special sale on yard-wide Black Taffeta at $1.00 per yard.

NEW THINGS

Some of the prettiest things for dresses this season are Silks, made in an endless variety of styles and grades. We are showing a very good one in brocade pattern at 25c per yard, a good grade at 39c, and the very best grade at 50c per yard. These are more on the pongee order and have pongee grounds.

A book of verses underneath the bough—But postal rates are being boosted now. How shall we even get a magazine. Much less a book? And echo answers, "How?"

A loaf of bread—again there comes de lay; For foodstuffs in this busy modern day Are not obtainable by mere request. You've got to have the wherewithal to pay.

A jug of wine—oh, bitterness of fate! That chills imagination once elate: For, as you wander forth without a care, You're sure to strike a prohibition state.

And so no more does gentle Fancy doff His cap to poetry. He's moved to scoff: For even were the climate well disposed He'd have to halt and call the picnic off. —Washington Star.

The Daylight Store

Bargain Counter Prices Will Prevail.

Bargain counter prices will prevail at the opera house when Phil Ott and his merry comedians come for an engagement of one day next Saturday, matinee and night, in the musical comedy whirlwind, "The Explorer," a satire on the recent controversy over the dash to the pole. Every line is brimming with laugh-provoking absurdities which are accentuated by Mr. Ott as only an Ott with the Ott originality is capable of doing.

Those who enjoyed the work of this favorite last year can appreciate the statement that he makes his audiences fairly gasp for breath with the continuous convulsions of laughter he compels from start to finish.

This show is specially mounted with new and elaborate scenic settings. The various numbers are all handsomely costumed, the music is of the ringing, catchy order and the dances sparkle with deft touch that accentuates the delicate lines and curves in the most fascinating way, adding to the many charms of this excellent production.

Vermont's Vote on Reciprocity.

President Taft's reciprocity bill has passed the House, but the Vermont men here voted against it. We are sorry.

We do not go so far as the Barre Times and all Congressman Foster and Congressmen Plumley traitors because they failed to vote for the measure. We do think, however, that they did not represent the sentiment of their constituents or vote for the broader interests of Vermont. They also voted in direct opposition to the Vermont Republican platform which declared emphatically in favor of reciprocity. In a letter from Congressman Plumley to The Republican he calls attention to the failure of the reciprocity pact of 1854 to 1868, but he surely must realize the different state of affairs that exist now that were not troublesome then. Gigantic trusts did not have their hands on the food supplies and great combines did not hold the nations' staples in cold storage. Times have changed. Something must be done. The people feel that way.

President Taft realizes it and by a master stroke proposes to begin the solution of the question. He has given the subject a wider view and we hope his measure will succeed. We believe, too, that the success of his reciprocity idea will be greatly to the advantage of Vermont as well as the nation at large.—St. Johnsbury Republican.

Spring Styles!

We are showing, this week, the new things in Soft and Stiff Hats, Caps and Negligee Shirts. Remember we carry such lines as the Stetson Hats; Lamson & Hubbard Hats and Caps; and the Cluett and Hathaway Shirts. If there were any better makes we should have them.

Our sales on the Cluett Soft Collar, for the past week, have been immense. Try the above lines this season and compare with other makes.
